

Old Testament Introduction

The Book Club selection for May is Old Testament Introduction by Mark Mangano, to be translated into Portuguese. LATM partner Nathan Holland serves the church in Angola, where he has been working for several years to develop more resources for Portuguese-speaking Bible students in Africa. He believes that one of the most needed resources for these students is a Bible commentary series. This conviction led him to begin translating the College Press NIV Commentary series, completing the New Testament Introduction earlier this year. These books are available in a print format, but are also being made available through an online library so that Portuguese-speaking students, in numerous Bible colleges all over Africa--from Angola to Cape Verde-- will be able to study with them.

Thank you, LATM donors, for your faithful gifts which make these books possible.
