

Making Sense of Life

This month's Book Club is LATM's second project in the Macedonian language. It's called Making Sense of Life by Michael Ots. This book addresses life's big questions, questions we all ask about life and value, identity and meaning, love and relationships, justice and freedom, despair and hope. The book makes the case that the Christian faith, as taught in the Bible, really does give the best understanding to the things that matter most.

The book will be used with LATM partner, Katerina and Mihail Koleva. They are Macedonians leading campus ministries on university campuses in the southeast European country of N. Macedonia. Making Sense of Life will be read by Christian students, to help them learn to communicate their beliefs. It will also be given to non-Christian students who are seeking Jesus and to whom Katerina and Mihail are ministering.

Thank you for your generosity this month which, through this book, will engage European university students with the hope of Christ.
