

Women of the Bible

This month's Book Club selection is called Women of the Bible. This three-volume study was written by one of the Lisu church leaders. The first two books cover the lives of 32 women in the Old Testament, from Eve to the Shunamite woman. The final book covers the application of what we can learn from the Bible's teaching about these women. Some of the lessons have been taught already at women's retreats.

Long-time LATM partners David and Norma Morse serve alongside the Lisu. David's ministry focuses on developing literature for the Lisu church, as well as many other tribal groups in the area. David says that these books will be used for study and in small groups of Lisu living in Myanmar, Thailand, and China. Book Club members' gifts will provide the funds to print 1,000 copies of each volume.
